After doing this in an appropriate and energetic manner, as was his custom Felix concluded to dispense with furthof the matter. And after "certain days," "Felix came with his wife Druscilla" and heard Paul "concerning the faith of Christ." The apostle, however, knowing that Druscilla was not the lawful wife of Fel x, and considering the peculiar circumstances in which they were placed framed his discourse to suit their particular case; which, when heard, "Felix trembled," and said, "go thy way for this time : when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee." We have no account, that Felix ever had a more "convenient season," For, against this rock, no doubt, store the vessel of his eternal salvation. Festus succeeded Felix in the governorship; before whom Paul was again accused. And when Festus came to the "judgment seat," the Jews from Jerusalem "stood round about," and laid many grievous charges against Paul, which they could not prove. These charges the apostle refuted again, and after making a full defence, appealed to the tribunal of Cæsar: to which, Festus, after having conferred with the council, agreed. About this time King Agrippa with his sister Bernice, came unto Cesarea to salute Festus: to whom he (Festus) referred the case of Paul, in a very brief and clear manner; believing at the same time that the accusation against him was unsurported by evidence, and consequently unjust. After Festus had thus reported the case to Agrippa, he answered him and said, "I would also hear the man myself." And on the next day, Paul was permitted to speak for bimself, before King Agrippa; which he did in his accustomed briliant and forcible manner. This was a great consolation to the apostle, that he was permitted to state the reason whereof he was "accused by the Jews." Paul was very particular in telling that he had been a Pharisee after the strictest set, and that he had persecuted the saints even unto strange cities; and the miraculous manner of his conversion. And while he was portraying this in sublime eloquence, Festus said in a loud voice, "Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad." This charge the apostle denied, and told them that he spoke the words their deeds of goodness, but by the journey to salvation; he that is sorry

Orion, August 13, 1858.

For the South Western Baptist. It will be admitted by all that a proper and uniform pronunciation, in public speaking as well as in reading and conversation, is very desirable. Dr. Mulkey, of Nashville, has recently published a work on this subject, that is, probably as correct as anything ever written on the subject. My present object is to call attention to a word of very common use, the pronunciation of which has certainly been as much abused as allude to the word wound. This being Which is the Apostolic Church? be given, only the proper and legitimate sound of the letters composing it. It is well known that its usual pronuncia-It appears "after five days," Paul's tion is woond. Now I see no reason for Christ. I do not think that we can trial came on before Felix. > But says another, "there is more Euphony in woond." If so, there must be more Euphony in boond, foond ground, poond, &c., and the advocates for this argument should, to be consistent, sound these words by the same rule.

"Neither rhyme nor reason" is an old adage, and it will hold good here. The minister reads :

How sweet the name of Jesus sounds, In a believers ear, It sooths his sorrows, heals his woonds,

And drives away his fear. Is not the rhyme destroyed in the above verses by this popular pronuncia tion. I am glad to know that many of our best public speakers are adopting the correct pronunciation of this word, and I should be glad never again to hear its perverted pronunciation from pulpit, bar or forrum.

HABITS .-- Like flakes of snow that fall unperceived upon the earth, the seemingly unimportant events of life succeed one another. As the snow gathers together, so are our habits formed: no single flake that is added to the pile produces a sensible change : no single action creates, however it may exhibit, a man's character; but as the tempest hurls the avalanche down the mountain, and overwhelms the inhabitant and his habitation, so passion, acting upon the elements of mischief, which pernicious habits have brought together by imperceptible accumulation, may overthrow the edifice of truth and virtue.

THE LUST FOR RICHES .- The grudge with which most men part with a little pittance for the noblest purposes, is astonishing and humiliating. Mammon, Mammon, is the god of the professing world among us. The love of distinction flows in the channels of wealth, and thus creates an aristocracy of Dollars. Hence the passion, for lucre is the passion of the United States. Men measure their respectability, not by of truth and soberness; and finally con- sums of which they are masters.

As the women usually grind corn every day, the sound of the stones and of their voices are among the characteristic noises of an Eastern city, the absence of which, does, in the strongest manner mark its desolate condition.

Very sensibly spoken. There is no declaration to the effect that all men will be finally restored, after being pu rified by fire. And consequently, Universalism is good for nothing, its advocates themselves being judges. For, even if the Bible did not add its testimony to the verdict of the common sense of mankind, that the wicked will be reserved for the day of wrath, what then? Where will the souls of men go after death? What will become of them? Will they be the sport of cir cumstances, or be consigned to the "Limbo of Vanity," or cease to exist

Mr. King frankly confesses that the Bible gives no assurance that they will go to Heaven. He is an honest and sensible man so far, but the more crafty and experienced Universalists see, at a glance, that his admission leaves the ark of their doctrine in sad predicament, with its sides all caved in, and its bottom fallen out! What is Universalism good for, men will ask if it only takes its votaries back to the dark and cheerless uncertainty of Socrates and Plato, and the enlightened heathens of Greece and Rome? But this is the most that it can do. And we suggest, as a first lesson, the study of Plutarch on "the delay of God in punishing the wicked." If Mr. King ever extends his studies so far, he might be greatly edified by the perusal of that work .- Western Watchman.

Spiritualism .- Miss Margaretta Fox, one of the original 'Fox family,' of Rochester, who have became somewhat famous as the first spirit rappers, has become a convert to Romanism and united with the Catholic church in New

It is said that Hume, who is now in Europe, and the greatest "medium" in the world, has also became a Catholic, but that he still practices his tricks in spiritualism. The Pope has issued a Bull against the spirit rappers; so Hume must look out. But why is it that spiritualism runs its votaries into free-loveism; women's rightsism, Ro manism and other absurdisms? There must be something radically wrong about it, and it would be but the part of safety, for its admirers, before swallowing the monstrous adsurdity whole to investigate its foundations and tendencies thoroughly.

A Conversation---Election.

A. Brother B. I have been wishing to have some conversation with you about the doctrine of Election, which I am told you hold.

B. Well, Brother A., I have no objections to such a conversation, but probably you expect to find a material difference between us which will lead to a little controversy.

A. It is quite likely that I can't agree with you if you believe as I have been told you do. But I have wondered whether you could believe anything so unreasonable.

B. We had better first of all ascertain how far and wherein we differ If we are to have any dispute, let us know what it is about. Will you then first answer me a few questions as to your

A. Most willingly.

B. Do you approve of God's government and think he does what is right?

A. Certainly.

B. You allow that he permits things to be done that are wrong. Do you think he does right in suffering men to act freely and commit sin?

A. I suppose he does. B. Then do you think he intends to do right ?

A. Yes, certainly,

B. So far we agree. There is just one more step. When do you think God first intended to do right?

A. Why, he-always intended to do

B. Very well, that is election enough for me. I believe no more. The doctrine of election is that God always intended to do what he does, and always intended to permit what he permits. We hold that he is holy and righteous in all his is not reasonable. God does right; he intends to do right; he always intended to do right.

Then as to his permissive decrees, relating to the existence of sin; he does right in suffering men to be free agents, and of their own free choice to sin. He is right, in holding back and res training men, and bounding their sinful actions; he does right in educing good out of evil and "causing the wrath of men to praise him, while he restrains the remainder of wrath." He does right in punishing sin, and he always intended to do so.

Can any one object to God's determining beforehand to do right? A. Certainly not.

B. Nor to his always intending to do right?

PASTORAL QUALITIES. -The following is from an account of a half-century sermon of Rev. Timothy P. Gillett, of

"In speaking of the kind of minis ters now in demand, Mr. G. said that when a pulpit was vacant now-a-days, the church generally appointed a committee to go and make inquiry of some theological Professor, or of some other eminent divine, for a suitable candidate. The first question about him usually was, is he a popular man? The second, is he a good speaker? Third, is he social and easy in his manners? Fourth, is he a man of decided talents : Fifth, can he live on a small salary ?-And then, as the committee was about trking leave, with hat in hand, and one foot over the door-sill, he sometimes added-he's a man of piety, I suppose."

Seven Fools -1-The envious manwho sends away his mutton because the person next to him is eating venison. 2-The jealous man-who spreads his bed with stinging nettles, and then sleeps in it. 3 .- The proud man-who gets wet through, sooner than ride in the carriage with his inferior. 4-The litigious man-who goes to law in the hopes of ruining his opponent, and gets ruined himself. 5-The extravagant man-who buys a herring, and takes a cab to carry it home. 6-The angry man-who learns to play the

A Revival Incident.

In a village in the State of Maine, at the commencement of the last winter, there was no church organization, or stated preaching of any kind. In common with the community in the vicinity, a religious interest was awakened in that village, preaching on the Sabbath was commenced, and in the progress of the work it was concluded to organize a church on the union

There were a large number of Universalists in the village, who determined to have a church of their faith .-The leader in this enterprise was profane, untruthful and dishonest. When he contemplated becoming a churchmember, he said to himself, "If I become a church-member, I must leave off swearing and become a truthful, honest man. I must make these external reforms." On further self-examination. he saw that external reformation was not all that was needful. He found that he had a wicked heart, opposed to God: that all his thoughts, words, and actions, proceeding from such a heart, were wrong. He now cried, "Create within me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." The Lord heard his cry, and put a new song in his mouth, even praise to his God.

He now preaches the faith he once despised. God blessed the conversion of this man to the salvation of many others in that village.

THE SAINT A BEGGAR .-- The richest saint must be, and is a humble beggar at grace's door all his days; and Christ the Lord of the house and the dispenser of the alms: and as the alms is too good not to be patiently waited for, so the Lord is too good and too great to be quarrelled with, and never did a believer get any good by complaining of agent; and suffer some free agents to him. A Passion for Hoarding.-We have rarely seen a more graphic description of a hoarding propensity than the following, from "Law's Serious Call" :

"If you should see a man that had a large pond of water, yet living in continual thirst, not sufferng himself to drink half a draught for fear of lessening his pond; if you should see him wasting his time in fetching more water to his pond, always thirsty, yet always carrying a bucket of water in his hand, watching early and late to catch the drops of rain, gaping after every cloud, and running greedily into every mire and mud, in hopes of water, and always studying how to make every ditch empty itself into his pond; if you should see him grow gray in these anxious labors, and at last end a careful, thirsty life by falling into his own pond, would you not say that such an one was not only the author of his own disquiet, but was foolish enough to be reckened among madmen? But foolish and absurd as this character is, it does not represent half the follies and absurd disquiets of the covetous man."

to commencing with its opening exercises.

This week will close our connection with the personal part of the controversy with Mr. Graves. Our task is accomplished. We have done what we set out to do. The facts are before the public; and there we leave them .-Nothing but a personal attack upon us, to disregard which would be criminal in us, can induce us to notice him personally any more. Of course we shall discuss any principle of common interest to the denomination.

For several months we have been silent under sundry misrepresentations which purport to have been written from South Alabama, We have reason to believe that some of them are "homeproductions." -"Probus" cases. Our readers will certainly allow a brother "whose praise is in all our churches," and who is as well known to the Baptists of Alabama, and is as well acquainted with public sentiment in the State as any man in it, to vindicate us from these misrepresentations. We "ruined" in South or North Alabama, or any where else !! "Lay not the flattering unction to your soul!" Mr. Graves first publishes that we had lost five hundred subscribers. This we immediately corrected-but he pays no attention to it. Nay, instead of this, he doubles the statement, and gravely informs his readers that we have lost a thousand subscribers. This we promptly corrected, declaring that our subscription was larger than it ever wasand yet not one line of correction appears !! Ought not these misrepresentations to be corrected? This is done most effectually by "P ** * * M." in another column. No living man can blame us for publishing that communi-

We desire to ask a few questions

1st. How many "Iron Wheels" would Mr. Graves give for just that amount of testimony we have adduced in regard to his leaving Kentucky on account of slavery to prove that either we or brother Dawson were an "open communionist ?" 2nd. If he could command such testimony against either of us, is there one of his adherents in the South, or any body else, that would doubt that he had sustained his charge?

3rd. If the editors of this paper should publish long communications to prove that communing at the Lord's Table was not wrong either according to the Scriptures, or per se, and we were to call attention to them, without one word of condemnation, as Mr. Graves did in regard to those articles in his paper on "polygamy," and say they were "from the pen of one of our ablest writers," and ask our readers to "save the papers" containing them, would that be sufficient to convict us of open

Finally: If we were to avow to Dr. Howell, "our intention to leave" the Baptist Church on account of close communion-if we were to mention its many evils and severely animadvert on them," and actually go and join a Pedobaptist Church-and then "by hook or by crook," were to get back into the Baptist denomination, and set ourself up as a leader, and denounce every body as heretical who would not acknowledge us as such, would it be considered "persecution" in Dr. Howell to prove these things on us ? VERBUM SAT!

We beg to restate the real question atissue between Mr. Graves and the senior editor of this paper. Mr. G. has very adroitly attempted to "change the issue," but we hold him to the original allegation. Here it is :- "That J. R. Graves, the editor of the Tennessee Baptist, animadverted severely on the institution of slavery in the presence of an eminent Baptist Minister, now deceased, [Dr. J. L. Waller], and that he left Kentucky because of his opposition to slavery." This was and is our allegation, AND THIS IS WHAT HE HAS SO PER-EMPTORILY DENIED.

Now mark,-Mr. Graves says that there is in it "an implied charge of abolitimism against" him. Therefore, if. the allegation is sustained (and we think we have sustained it,) he is, according to his own showing an abolitionist. Since, therefore, we have proved our charge by two several letters from Dr. Waller, corroberated by the colateral testimony of elders S. Dyer, S. H. Ford and I. T. Tichenor -- and also by the fact that Mr. Graves went back to Ohio, and engaged in the business of school teaching, as we are informed by unquestionable testimony, and since he and his colaborator, J. M.

P. have attempted to destroy the testimony of Dr. Waller, first, by directly denying the charge Dr. W. makes, and secondly, by pronouncing him insane, (pretty guardians, these, of the memory and fame of John L. Waller, and pretty lecturers of us for "disturbing the ashes of the dead !") we say, since Mr. G. insists that if our charge be true he is an abolitionist, and since we think we have proved it, we leave him to flounder in the meshes of his own logic.

Priscilla persus J. R. Graves.

If any of our readers have felt the least doubt as to the real authorship of "PRISCILLA," whose stirring parrations and beautiful simplicity have been so barbarously plagiarised by the "great exponent of Baptist principles" at Nashville, we beg of them to read the following Affadavit prepared and sworn to by Rev. JOSEPH BAN-VARD, the real author of "Priscilla." Mr. Banvard is a well known Baptist minister, of no mean attainments as a writer, and whose character is beyond suspicion, whether we regard him as a minister or as a literary man. This Affadavit has been, with other papers, prepared as a part of the legal proceedings to prevent Mr. Graves from reaping the benefit of other men's labors. We hope our readers will not fail to read the document attentively.

See, also, advertisement in another column.

I, Joseph Banvard, of the town of North Providence, in the State and District of Rhode Island, on oath say :

That I am a clergyman residing in the aforesaid town. That during the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, I made and composed a book to which I gave the title of "Priscilla," or, "Trials for the Truth." An Historic Tale of the Puritans, and the Baptists, by Rev. Joseph Banvard, author of, "Plymouth, and the Pilgrims," "Novelties of the New World," "Romance of American History !" &c. &c., and disposed of my interest n said book on certain conditions, to Messrs. Heath & Graves, of Boston, who as I am informed and believe, secured the topy-right of said book according to law.

I further state that said book was an original work of my own; that it was not a compila tion from other works. No single chapter of it was copied from any English Penny Magazine or other work whatever. I originated the story, made the plot, arranged the nature and ion of the events, and wrote or composed the whole of said book, except "such portions as are marked therein as quoted.' I further state, that I have seen a book purocrting to be published by the South Western Publishing House, Nashville, Tennessee, called and entitled "Trials and Sufferings for Religious Liberty," purporting to be edited by J. R. Graves; said book contains one hundred and forty-nine pages. Of these, ten pages are taken up with the Title-page and Introduction, about twenty-two other pages are additions made by the Editor, and the remaining, one hundred and seventeen pages, are identical, in idea, expression and language, with the idea, expression and language, in an equal portion of the book made and composed by me, entitled "Priscilla," &c. as I have ascertained by a careful comparison and collation of the two books. There are certain chapters in "Priscilla" which do not appear in the said book, entitled "Trials and Sufferings" &c. I further state, that when I speak above of "such portions as are marked therein as quoted," I mean to refer to two or three, briefly historical documents and quotations, in the English language, of passages from the Greek illustra-tive of the meaning of the word "Baptizo" and its cognates which were copied from other books, but not from any English Penny or other Magazine; all which do not, to the best of my recollection, comprise more than three or four pages of said book, entitled "Priscilla."

JOSEPH BANVARD. Duly sworn to before me. JOSEPH S. PITMAN, Commissioner of the U. S. Circuit Court, in and for the R. I. District.

And who is the fortunate one now Why who but we the senior editor of the South Western Baptist We have now a bran new buggy, one of the best that friend "Edmonds" makes, (and this is saving a great deal) and one of the finest horses to work in it in Macon county -the whole worth not less than five hundred dollars-and all the gift of a generous friend, who, although a member of no church, is a well wisher to the cause. We would mention his name, but he has positively forbidden us doing so. Who says now that editing a paper is evil and only evil? (pecuniarily we mean?) Who says that the "memory" of an editor has no "green spots?" If any body doubts that there is a single editor who has an "easy chair," just let him come and take a ride in our new buggy. "Rare Ben Jonson" speaks of "gifts" thusand we heartily endorse the sentiment :

They are the noblest benefits, and sink "Deepest in man; of which where he doth think, "The memory delights him more, from whom, "Than what he hath received."

Who would not be an editor, with all its toils and thankless services?

Foreign Missions---Bro. Bowen.

We publish another communication from brother Bowen; and in calling attention to it, beg to say, that we do hope the cause of missions "may not be injured" by his, or the positions of any other brethren. He never has received a Polygamist into the church, during his connection with the Mission -and we have no idea that he ever would, with the manifest expression of the sentiments of his brethren he now has. We doubt not that he would yield to their wishes in this respect. We are therefore prepared to say without yielding an iota of the ground, we have taken, that should a kind providence resten him to health, we are ready to give him our warm support as formerly. If in contending for what we believe to be Bible truth, we have said any thing that has wounded his feelings, we are sorry for it, and hereby tender to him the most cordial expressions of Christian confidence and love.

1. The Mission cause belongs to God and the brethren, not to me. The contributions of brethren will go to other Missionaries, and not to me. I have not been a Missionary at all since last January, at which time my health obliged me "to suspend indefinitely" my connection with the Board. That no one might be disconraged, I would not re sign out-right then, but I have resigned since Bro. Clark has arrived at home to plead for the cause.

2. Whether right or wrong, our mis sionaries have always refused to bap-

And yet I have nev er heard that any one in the South in jured Missions by withholding their contributions. "We had an interesting meeting at Perote, embracing the third Sabbath. Five were added to the church. Brother Bass, the pastor, baptized twelve or fifteen into the fellowship of Mt Pleasant church, last week. I spent the two last days with him at Siloam, another church that he labors with, at which there is a deep work of grace going on. Five or six had been received when I left to go to my own work at Farriorville."

For the South Western Baptist. "Help me, Cassius, or I Sink."

Edit rs of the South Western Baptist . DEAR BRETHREN-The country needs no other evidence that your well directed articles against Graves & Co., are telling with wonderful effect upon the great Baptist heart, than that afforded from week to week in the Tennessee Baptist, in the publication of what purports to be extracts from anonymous letters of Baptist ministers in South Alabama. I extract, as a sample from the last issue of the Tennessee Baptist, the following:

"A minister writing from South Alabama adds this note:

"'I have within a week past been visited by three Baptist ministers, one of whom has traveled extensively through Alabama, and he (though not a Landmark) assures me that bro-Henderson has literally ruined himself in his mad attacks upon yourself and bro. Graves, and that the great body of even Alabama Baptists are decidedly opposed to Henderson. And the other two gave the same testimony on the subject as far as their information extended.'

We have no evidence of the genuineness of this alledged communication, save what is furnished by the Tennessee Baptist. Of one thing however, you may be well assured, that whether there be such a letter or not,-whether the extract be from a letter written by "a minister from South Alabama," or be taken from some penny magazine which the compositor has misplaced, or a "Baptist magazine by Paul," the facts asserted are apocryphal. I wonder if somebody is not playing off a hoax upon the Editors of the Tennessee Baptist? I think I am well acquainted with the most of the Baptist preachers in Alabama, and with the general sentiments of Alabama Baptists, and while they regret that the controversy between you and Mr. Graves has sprung up the great mass of them think the time had arrived when the denomination must either be dragged down to the miserable standard set up by Mr. Graves, and second his claims to infallibility, and become his leige subjects, ready at his bidding to immolate every one whom he should designate to be victimized, or they must assert their independence, and assign to Mr. Graves and those who seem disposed to have him rule or ruin the denomination, their true positions. You have, with a self-sacrificing disposition worthy of all praise, nobly come to the rescue of your brethren, and have placed, by the aid of some other noble spirits, our denomination on an elevated stand point, where, with the blue beaven of truth above us, and the pure air of religious taken from a "penny magazine which has been liberty and Christian love and fellowship all around us, we may breathe free, and live above | London." the murky clouds of narrow-minded bigotry

Ruined, because like an honest Christian minister and editor of a leading denominational paper, he has boldly spoken out and rolled back the tide of bigotry and narrow-minded prejudice which was threatening under the lead of such men as Graves to overwhelm our beloved Zion! Ruined, because he has defended himself by publishing stubborn facts in reference to the operations of the Bible Board, when he had been denounced as a slanderer and accuser of the brethren by Mr. Graves, for merely suggesting errors in the Secretary's report! Runed, because he has warned the Southern Churches and put them upon their guard against a man who was appealing to their sympathy and pockets upon the ground of his being "true to the South," when his antecedents showed his fidelity consisted in being so opposed to slavery as to shock his moral sensibilities, and drive him to a free State! Is it true, brother Henderson, that you have, in a Southern State, composed of noble, intelligent, high-minded people, and who cherish their Southern homes and institutions, rained yourself by exposing the sentiments of Mr. Graves, who, according to his own admission, stands convicted of having denounced our sons, without exception, as amalgamationists? Is this the character which Alabama fathers and mothers are so anxious to have fastened upon their sons, as that they will ruin any man for vindicating their honor and piety against such gratuitous wholesale slander? Aye, brethren, if you are ruined for these good deeds, you will not be the first who have been to the Alabama Association came too stoned for endeavoring in the fear of God, to late for this week's paper. We request publish the truth and to place our blessed Christianity upon a true basis. If you are at an early day. It shall appear in our ruined for such efforts, then the Baptists may next. hang their harps upon the willows; the muse may strike her melaucholy note, and hymn a mournful dirge over a once powerful and pious but fallen denomination. But such is not the case? It is a rare thing to find any man who sympathises with Mr. Graves, in Alabama .-

across a mud-hole that his benefactor might cross over with unsoiled feet .- A brother who has charged a number of his brethren with down right falsehood, that another Charch might disregard the action of the first Church in the matter of such expulsion and admit such expelled brother,—he is guilty of another grow departure from Baptist Landmarks, What then, he exclaims! The matter will come be fore the Association and a split of the Churches ensue, &c., &c. While on this subject, I may remark that here is evidently shadowed forth the course to be pursued,—in a certain event anticipated by Mr. Graves, and embodies a death blow to the independence of the Churches should it be carried out. The assumption is that one Church may turn out a man for immoral conduct, another Church may virtually no verse the action of the first and receive the expelled member, holding him in full fellowshin and thus he may go and commune with the ren members whom he has denounced as liars and slanderers! Such a proceeding strikes down the great and fundamental principles of church independence, and would throw our denomination into a perfect bedlam of confusion. And this is the man who is upheld as a great stee. ler for ancient landmarks! Is there a Baptis in Alabama who would be willing to follow the wake of a leader who should thus the down the very first and fundamental principal of Church organization? if so, let him follow Mr. Graves, and adopt the following in their confession of faith, for your stern opposition to which, Mr. Graves' admirers say you are ruined.

1. We should severely animadvert on the evils of slavery. 2. We should flee from it because all our young men are practical amalgamationists.

3. A man may join and be a member of as many Churches as he pleases at the same time, so that if turned out of one, he may still be a member of another.

4. No Baptist Church is independent but every Church has the right to receive and overhaul the acts of every other Church, and if one excludes a member for immoral conduct, any other Church may receive him without repentance, and foist him upon the communion of the Church which excluded him. 5. It is right to take the book which is the labor of another, the copy-right of which be has bought and paid for, and to publish it as ones own, in violation of the law of the land. and when charged with plagiarism, say it was lost, or from a Baptist magazine published in

6. Finally : As to the little matter of having a haif dozen wives, there is no prohibition against it in the Sacred Scriptures, and sinceit is a mere matter of taste, or of conventionaletiquette, or convenience, if you can dodge the law of man, the law of God acquits you, so you may, without sinning, take as many as you please. ORIGIN OF THE ENTERPRISE.

THE establishment of this Institution originated in the desire deeply felt by individuals of the Baptist Denomination in and around Tuscaloosa, to afford the advantages of elevated religious and literary education to the daughters of our land. The existence of other excellent Seminaries for the instruction of young Ladies, already in successful operation in the place, so far from deterring them from their object, only encouraged them to believe that a city so famed for its healthfulness, its intellectual and elevated society, its beauty and its central locality, might be made the educational metropolis of the South. Accordingly, the founders of this Institution, emulating the noble example furnished by others, resolved to erect for the Baptist Denomination, a Central Female College, which should command the best advantages and take the first rank among the Female Colleges of the land.

ITS RELIGIOUS CHARACTER. ORIGIN OF THE ENTERPRISE.

ITS RELIGIOUS CHARACTER. A prominent feature of the Institution will be the care taken to impress proper religious instruction upon the minds of the pupils. And while no denominational lends will be inculcated, but on the contrary the exhibition of a liberal catholic spirit required of the efficers in their intercourse with the pupils, yet it is designed that such exercises shall be introduced into the College order and curriculum as will give a religious bias to their mirds. The study of the Bible, or of some treatise directly bearing upon Bible truths, will be made for the frequent delivery of religious lectures before the young ladies, while attendance upon Divine Service on Sabbath will be required of all the pupils. inent feature of the Institution will be the car papils. ITS FACHLITIES.

In order to carry out with success the design of giving the best advanges to those who enter its halls, the Trus-tees of the College will omit no measures for the procuring uitable means and facilities of instruction. Among these

I.-The College Edifice.

By the favor of the Trustees of the University of Alabama, the spacious and elegant building formerly known as the State Capitol, erected at a cost of more than $100, 000, has been leased to the College for the term of ninetynine years. This lease was confirmed by the Alabama Legislature, at its last session. The building is now undergoing repairs, and when completed will be unrivalled in beauty and convenience. The trustees intend not only to restore it to its original condition, but so to remodel and extend it as will make it an ornament to the State and the pride of the city. The extensions proposed will not be undertaken at present, but as soon as the wants of the Institution shall make more accommodations necessary.

The edifice as it is will be renovated and in readness for the reception of boarders by the opening of the exercises in October. With the present arrangements not less than thirty-five boarders can be comfortably accommodated.

When to the elegance of the edifice we add its commanding situation, affording a view from its lofty dome of many miles around, and itself visible in some directions tavely emiles: and the beauty of the prospect, embrasing the city, the University, the lusane Hospital, the picturesque valley of the Warrior, but little else is required to make the College premises one of the loveliest spots in the Sunny South.

II. The Faculty. The first order of talents and accomplishments will be sought, in filling the various departments of instruction. The Trustees feel that in the Catalogue of Teachers at the beginning of this Prospectus they have an array of names, which are themselves a sufficient guaranty to the public of the superior claims of this Institution. We only regret that at the date of this issue, we are unable to fill the black in the list. Arrangements and negotiations, howthat at the date of this issue, we are unable to fill the blanks in the list. Arrangements and negotiations, how-ever, are in progress, which we feel assured will result satisfactorily to all concerned. We hope to be able to secure the services of a distin-guished President at some time during the first Collegiate year.

In the mean time, the Institution will be under the administration of Professor R. P. La Ham, a gentleman of varied attainments and large experience. We deem it only necessary to say of him, that having graduated with distinguished honor at the University of Virginia, having held prominent positions in the Columbian College, Washington Gity, and in the Richmond Female Institution, he brings to the discharge of his duties, an amount of scholaring and experience worthy of all confidence. arship and experience worthy of all confidence.

It is the purpose of the Trustees to procure suitable fur-niture for the use of the College, at their earliest convenience. the pupils.

LITERARY GRADE. The standard of education here will be inferior to that of no Institution of the kind. Pupils will not be permitted to assume any higher position than that for which their attainments qualify them, nor to advance beyond their years or capacity. We shall discourage the practice, so common, of graduating mere children, of reaching the terminus of the College course by a stam process, as disastrous to the individual mind as it is subversive of the general interests of education.

BOARDING DEPARTMENT, Negotiations are now in progress to secure a competent person to take charge of the Bearding Department of the institution. It is designed that this Department shall be excelled, convenient, orderly and comfortable—the fare

In glancing over the list of Text Books recommended by the Hon. W. F. Perry, Superintendent of Education for the State of Alabama, we were pleased to find two of the number, English Grammar, and English Composition, from the pen of Prof. Barton, of Als. We are truly glad to find Southern talent engaged in the good work of education. It is high time we had home books, and home teachers.

Before us are the proof-sheets of another of his series:
"Easy Lessons in English Grammar for Young Beginners."
This was prepared at the suggestion of Supt. Perry, but did not come to hand in time for notice in his list. In expressing his opinion of its merits, he says: "It is just what its title imports, and better adapted to "Young Beginners" than any that has come under my notice;" and farther adds: "I cheerfully recommend its introduction into all the public schools of the State."

TEACHERS AND LECTURERS.

PROF. I. J. MORRIS, A. M., the Author of a Philosophical and Practical Grammar of the English language, offers flattering inducements to accomplished Teachers and Lecturers, to travel and teach his system of Grammar By a skillful use of this system, learners of proper age, fair capacity are in the brief space of twenty days, taught to parse any sentence which they can read understandingly, and to correct ungrammatical expressions wherever found. This is no experiment, as the peculiar and startling advantages of this system have been successfully demonstrated for years, by others as well as by the Author himself. There is a widely extended call for this work, and a large number of competent Teachers and Lecturers, is already profitably engaged in traveling and promulgating the same.

Successful Teachers and Lecturers can, in this enterprise, easily make from $100.00 to $200.00 per month, exclusive of expenses. Payments monthly. The clergy, the professors in our theological semibaries, and the best biblical critics in our country, have now rendered their verdict, and by common consent, this commentary, is pronounced worthy of universal attention by students of the Holy Scriptures. The religious press of all denominations, and of all schools in theology, bear testimony of the learning, the ability the orthodoxy, and the FRENCH AND CHINTILLA LACE MANdenotis of the Holy Scriptures. The religious press of all denominations, and of all schools in theology, bear testimony of the learning, the ability, the orthodoxy, and the eminent evangelical spirit that peervades this great work. The Publishers wish to bring these opinions and the work itself before every clergyman and every intelligent, layman in this country, believing that the cause of sound learning and of biblical truth will be promoted by placing one or more copies of this commentary in every parish in the United States.

From the New York Examiner.

"Dr. Kendrick has compared the whole volume, sentence by sentence, with the original, and in many cases has evidently performed a labor equal to that of making a new version. The character and necesity of his work may be inferred from the specimens which he has given in his preface. But the amount and value of his labor can only be understood by one who compares the American work with the Edinburgh edition in detail. Not a page of the work has been left unaltered. These alterations have added immensely to the simplicity and clearness of the work and consequently to its value for the English reader. The adaptation of the work to general use has been increased by giving Greek phrases in their English equivalents. We feel justified in recommending it to all heads of families and teachers of Bible Classes, who are desirous of being introduced to the best results of critical learning, when employed in the defence and elucidation of divine truth. To clergy men the work will be indispensable, and we hope that the period for giving presents will his every a tor in our land with a copy of this volume, and a junior order for the others, as they shall be published."

From the New York Examplests.

"As a whole, we need not say to acholars, but may any emphatically, to Bible readers generally, that there is at present no complete exposition of the New Testament more profound in learning, more skillful in exegesis, or more useful in developing the meaning of the Divine Word than this."

"As a critic, Olshausen surpasses most commentators

From the New York Independent.

"As a critic, Olshausen surpasses most commentators in penetrating to the inmost meaning of the Seciptures, getting at the very marrow of the text. Every minister who has not a copy of Olshausen, should mark this as the next work to be added to his library. Liberal men should make this prominent on their list of donations to needy ministers."

From the Southern Baptist.

"These six volumes on the New Testament will form a repository which every thorough and earnest student of the New Testament should possess. The price for the whole will be found very reasonable compared with similar works."

For the South Western Baptist. The Storm Blew Past.

The gathering clouds ; the thunder's crash: the lightning's glare; the driving wind, and the drenching rain, have often appeared for a while in the bright blue sky above us. We have seen these things so often, that we are very seldom alarmed at the approach of a storm. We become serious and thoughtful, but not afraid. We have seen all nature restored again to its accustomed cheerfulness. The storm blew past.

We have seen a thick gloom gathering around a Christian. The storm of adversity was upon him, with all its accompanying terrors. He was serious and thoughtful, as we are during a common thunder storm; for he remembered the word of God, "In the day of adversity consider." He was not afraid; for he had often seen the bow of God's promise hovering over him. His sky again became clear. The storm blew past.

We have seen the storm come from the North and from the South; from the East and from the West. We have seen adversity coming upon the Christian from different directions. He bent his head like a reed, or a weeping willow; for he remembered that he must "humble himself under the hand of God, and he would be lifted up" again. The sunshine returned, and the birds once more sang sweetly around him,

The storm blew past. We have seen the storm come suddenly, and sometimes gradually. In like manner, the Christian is sometimes forewarned of coming adversity; but often the storm comes suddenly, like a whirlwind upon the most cherished, and beautifully green spot of his affections. He has hardly time to look around and lay hold on the consolation of religion, but hears a sweet voice amid the darkness of the raging storm, and though he sees no help, he flings out his hands in that direction, to lay hold on God; and he remembers, "Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down; for the lord upholdeth him with his hand." The rainbow of promise is again in the sky. The storm blew past. We have seen the storm come in the strength of a hurricane, carrying death and destruction in its course .--We have also seen the storm of adversity coming on the Christian with all the terrors of a destroying angel. He seemed to cling with tearful eyes in tender attachment to his wife, his children, and to his dear relatives and friends; and he was afraid he would not be willing to go, But while he was thus holding on to the sweet enchantment of this life, he heard a voice. as if it came from the other side of Jordan, "Thy people shall be made willing in the day of Thy power." He left his body in the hands of his friends; and his free spirit coming to the verge of the dark river, he found the waters parted hither and thither, and a thousand beautiful rainbows of promise, arching his way to the land of eternal bliss. Those whom he left behind, resumed their accustomed duties and pleasures. The storm blew past.

How to Believe.

Take your Bible and turn to 1 John 5:9-12. May I ask you to read this passage aloud, verse by verse? In order to believe, you want to know how to believe; whom you are to believe; what you are to believe; when you are to believe; what is the sin of not believing; and what you are to get by believing. Perhaps in these verses, of all others in the Bible, this all-important subject of faith is stated in terms the most simple and unmistakeable.

Verse 9th-'If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater.'

To 'receive the witness of men,' is to believe their testimony; (the old English word 'witness' and 'testimony being the same.) 'To receive the witness of God' is to believe his testimony. It is precisely the same act of mind which receives both, it is believing what has been said. In other words, if you want a definition of faith in its simplest form, it is 'giving God credit for what he says;' receiving his testimony as true; believing what he has declared; taking him at his word! See Christ's definition, (John 5: 24.) Whose testimony is the 'best' or greatest.' God's, of course, for he cannot lie! [ Sam. 15: 29.]

Which of the two, then, ought it to be the easiest to believe? It ought to be, though I never thought of it just in that light before, easiest to believe God. Read now the remainder of the verse. 'For this is the witness of God, which he hath testified of his son.' Of whom has God given the testimony which he wishes you to believe? Of his Son, Jesus Christ.

So far, then, all is plain. Faith is believing what God says; believing what God says about his Son. This you can believe; this you ought to believe. But do you believe it? How am I to know whether I believe it or not?

The next verse will tell you, Verse 10th,-'He that believeth on the son of God hath the witness in him-

The belief in the testimony of God concerning his Son, leading naturally, if not of necessity, to a belief or trust in the Son himself, simultaneously with this believing in the Son of God, the Holy Spirit enters the heart along with the truth thus received, and begins to bear witness there. [1 John 5:6; Romans 8: 16; Gal. 3:2.]— What this witness of the Spirit is you can only learn by experience. If you have it, you will know and feel it. If, as still seems to be the case, you have it not, it cannot be explained in advance. This is one motive for believing; it appeals to your hopes; but in the last clause of the verse there is another motive, and one that appeals very strongly to your fear. Read on.

'He that believeth not God hath made him a liar, because he believeth not the record that God gave of his

Up to this moment, probably, you have never learned that the greatest of all your sins is unbelief. Think of it in reference to God. 'It makes him a liar!' It insults him upon his throne, and would bring him down to a level with Satan! Think of it in reference to yourself. While it lasts, it binds the guilt of all other sins upon you! For every drop of sin in the life, what an ocean of of sin in the heart does this expression reveal, 'He that believeth not God hath made him a liar!' Is it not the first of your sins of which to to be convinced, for which to be sorry, the very first to be confessed and forsaken? [John 16:9; 1 John 3: 23.] Hoping that such is your determination, let me ask you now to read the eleventh verse.

'And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.'-

There are few verses in the Bible on which more souls have anchored their hopes for eternity than this. God grant that you may do the same! Every thought that it contains is infinitely precious. Let us take them, therefore, one by one.

What has God given? 'Life,' life 'eternal!' To whom has he given it!

To us. Who are meant by 'us?' Every one Lut you and I?

No, it means us both. [1 John 2 3:1 Cor. 15:1-4.] Suppose I draw a pencil-mark around the word 'us,' and you substitute 'me,' or your own name if you will,

how would it then read? 'And this is the record. that God hath given to [ME] eternal life.'

There is such a thing, then, as 'eternal life;' eternal life for you, already given,' or provided for you by God ? [1 John 2:25.] Where is it to be

And this life is in his Son. When are you put in possession of

I do not know. The twelfth verse will tell you. 'He that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. Christ is God's first gift, with or for the sake of whom he betows all others. Accept Christ as he is offered, and with him you will freely receive all that is in him! [Romans 8: 32 John 5: 24.] The moment you believe in Christ, that moment you begin the life eternal! [1 John 5:13.]

CHRIST ACCEPTED. Yes, my dear friend, when God's Lamb was offered on Calvary as the one great sacrifice for sin, [John 1: 29] when God's own and only Son hung dying upon the cross, our sins upon him, our guilt between him and his Father in heaven, he felt as deep a pang for you, as for any other sinner. It is not too much to suppose that his omniscient eye looked even to you, and that so to speak, he said within himself, 'I die for him ; my blood is shed for him; his sins are laid upon me; and by my stripes, if he will, he may be healed !' O I how near, how very near, does such a thought bring the cross to our souls! and the Crucified

One almost within sight and hearing! Even while I speak, are you turning your back upon this sinful world?-Leaving earthly things behind? Yielding as you are drawn by the Holy Spirit? Even now, do you cast yourself at the foot of that cross, beneath those outstretched hands, those bleeding feet that wounded side, and thank the Savior that he died, and died for you? Do you say, just as really as though he were visibly present, and you addressed him personally, 'Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief! I accept the atonement thou hast provided. I take thee as the only Mediator between me and my offended Father! I call thee my Savior, mine!

'Here, Lord, I give myself away, 'Tis all that I can do.

Then happy are you! However feeble the hand of your faith, once put it into the hand of Christ, and you have his promise that he will not let you go. Once put yourself under his care as that of the Good Shepherd who laid down his life for his sheep, and he will answer for your safety to the end .-Once give yourself to him, he will in turn give himself to you, and the union thus formed, will outlast the soul and the body, and exist forever! ## A Touching Incident.

A little boy had died. His body was laid out in a darkened room, waiting to be laid in the cold, lone grave. His afflicted mother and bereaved little sister went in to look at the sweet face of the precious sleeper, for his face was beautiful even in death. As they stood gazing on the face of one so beloved and cherished, the little girl asked to shake his hand. The mother at first did not think it best, but the child repeated the request, and seemed very anxious about it; she took the cold, bloodless hand of her sleeping boy and placed it in the hand of his weeping sister. The dear child looked at it a moment, caressed it fondly, and then looked to her mother through tears of love

"Mother, this hand never struck What could have been more touching and lovely?

English Landscape.

English landscape has a minutely finished look; it lacks grandeur; its features are delicate, and the impresbeauty; the trees and multitudinous vines have a draperied air, and strike the eye rather as a part of the charming whole than as possessing an individual interest. We have seen woodlands in the far west that were far more gracefully majestic than any we have such smiles of cultured and fitted scenery. Nature with us throws on her capsident in heaust scan series with the confident in heaust series.

Valuable Real Estate in Helicon

FOR SALE! A RARE CHANCE FOR TEACHERS!!

THE subscriber having retired from teaching, offers for sale his desirable residence, Academy, &c., in Helicon, Lowades county, 35 miles South from Montgomery. The Dwelling has cight rooms and six fire-places, admirably arranged, and well finished; connected with which are all the necessary out-taildings, lots, and grounds for a boarding-house or residence—being furnished with an abundance of excellent water and fael. During a residence of seven years on the premises, there was not a case of fever in the subscriber's family. The Academ, near the dwelling, is well turnished with Seals, Desta, Hackboards, Globes, Mays, dec., sufficient for the comfortable accommodation of 100 students, which number may be easily obtained in the vicinity, and surrounding neighborhoods. There are Two Hundring and surrounding neighborhoods. There are Two Hundring Acriss of Land attached to the premises, about 60 or 70 of which, are cleared and in a fine state of-cultivation—the remainder being in the wools, and consisting principally of fine oak and hickory land.

There are houses of worship belonging to the Baptists, Protestant, and Episcopal Methodists, in Helicon, and a minister belonging to either of these denominations, (especially the Baptist,) would find this to be a desirable situation, and an inviting field fer usefulness.

Helicon is also a fine stand for a successful mercantile business. Any person wishing to purchase this valuable property, is requested to call on Capt. May, or S. R. May, in Helicon, or confer with the subscriber in Orion, Pike county, Ala. 25—The terms will be easy.

J. W. WEBB'S Patent Double Rib Gin.

HAVE invented and obtained letters patent for a Pou-ble-chilled Reversing Rib for Cotton Gins, which I will manufacture at Cotton Valley, Macon county, Ala. The advantage of my improvement in the Cotton Gin Rib, consists in making them reversible so as to do double so that when one end is worn out and becomes unfit for use the farmer can take them off himself, reverse and replac the farmer can take them off himself, reverse and replace them again, and make them do double the service of those heretofore used. It will save the farmer the trouble and expense of transporting his cotton gin to some factory and procuring a new set of ribs. Any one can take them off and replace them again. All that it requires is to take out the screws and run them back again, and then you will the serews and run them back again, and then you will have a new set of Ribs.

My improved Rib will not be very popular with gin-makers in general, for they say that gins last too long. Some have neknowledged that it is superior to any Rib they have ever seen. It is the farmer that I want to please, and if he will give me a trial. I will certainly do it. With twelve year's experience, I flatter myself that I cam make as good a Gin as any one; and with my improvement, I know that I can make them last one-third donger, without any expense for repairing. All that I ask is to give me a trial.—Persons wishing to buy my Double Rib Gin, will please order them, for it will be impossible for agents to call on all I will deliver Gins at our Factory, at Two Dollars per saw.
