The Good Shopherd.

The snow was drifting o'er the hills, Fierce was the wind and loud, Thilethe Good Shepherd forward presso The tempest hath begun," "I cannot stay, I must away To seek my little one?"

A thorn-wreath bound the gentle brow
That beam'd with pity sweet,
And marks of wounds were on his hands
And scars upon his feet.
Again I said, "O Shepherd, rest,
The tempest bath begun."
He murmur'd, "Nay. I must away
To seek my little one."

To seek my little one."

"I saw thy flock at peace within Thine own well-guarded fold; O Shepherd, pause, for wild the gale That rages o'er the world!"
"No; one pror lamb half good astray
And soon may be undone;
I cannot stay, I must away
To seek my little one!"

"But, since thy flock are all secure, Wby to the hight repair? If they hast ninety-nine at home, Why for a trusht care ?" "Dearer to me than all the rest Is that poor, straggling son!
I cannot stay, I must-away
To seek my little one!

"Good Shepherd, tell me, if his need Should bring the wanderer home, Wilt thou not punish him with stripes, Lest he again should roam?"
"No; I would clasp him to my heart,
As mother clasps her son... I cannot stay, I must away

To seek my little one !" Even so, I thought, our gracious Lord Hath in his heart Diving. A wealth of love for all his saints-For all the ninety-nine! But most he loves, and most he seeks The soul by sin undone; And still he sighs, "I must away "To seek my little one!"
