"Among the Oaks"

Is the title of an attractive and highly interesting book issued by the Passenger department of the Kansas City, Ft. Scott & Memphis R. R. Co. The book pertains entirely to fruit-raising in that great fruit belt of America, the southern slope of the Ozarks, and will prove of value not only to fruit growers, but to every farmer and home seeker in other states, looking for a farm and home. The book will be mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in postage stamps. Address J. E. Lockwood, Kansas City, Mo.

"Dear me," said old Mr. Boggs, hesitatingly, "I know I've forgotten something; but for the life of me I can't remember what it is."

Charming people, these exceptional people! Here's a medicine—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for instance, and it's cured hundreds, thousands that are known, thousands that are unknown, and yet yours is an exceptional case. Do you think that that bit of human nature which you call "it" is different from the other parcels of human nature? You don't know my case? Good friends, in ninety-nine out of a hundred cases, the causes are the same—impure blood, and that's why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures ninety-nine out of every hundred. You may be the exception, but you may not. But would you rather be the exception, or would you rather be well? If you may not, you get your money back—but suppose it cures you? Let the "Golden Medical Discovery" take the risk.

BIRMINGHAM CHURCHES.

ABONABLE—Pastor Green preached to large congregations. Two baptisms at night. Large attendance at Sabbath-school.

PLANT NINES—Pastor preached at Sunday-school. Full attendance at both services, which were greatly enjoyed.

EXLEY CITY—Pastor Stinson preached at both services. Good attendance at Sabbath-school. Large attendance at both services and one received by letter.

FIRST CHURCH—Sabbath school largely attended. Congregation in the morning large and the communion service delightfully sweet. Night service largely attended. Pastor preached. Subject: "The Nations of the Earth at the Judgment."

EAST LAKE—222 in Sunday-school. Pastor preached at both services. Two received during the week, one for baptism and one by letter. Twenty-one baptized.

SOUTH SIDE—Pastor Hale at both services: two large congregations; 208 in Sunday-school; seven additions by letter. Dr. T. T. Eaton delivered his famous witty lecture on "The Women" in O'Brien's Opera House, Thursday night, May 7th. The proceeds go for a memorial window for Dr. J. J. D. Renfro.

COALBURN—On the fourth Sunday in April had two large congregations; two baptisms; an excellent young man and a promising young married man, both baptized next meeting. Church building about complete. Will get a good organ and dedicate the building the fourth Sunday in May.

SECOND CHURCH—Good attendance at Sabbath-school and morning service. Not so large at night. Sunbeams met at 3:30 p. m.

DR. PURSER—In Columbia, Ala., we had one of the best meetings I have held for years. Twenty-four accessions; nineteen for baptism. I virtually make arrangements for the money to pay for the furniture of the chapel. The college will enter the new building to-morrow, and will then be in the best college building in the state.

BESMER—A delightful entertainment Friday night by Ladies' Aid Society, which added $20 to their treasury. Two splendid services yesterday. One profession at night. Church will be completed this week.

WOODLAND—Pastor Adams preached at both services to large congregations and one addition by letter. Dr. Jos. Shackelford will preach Thursday night.

REPORTER.
In all the social and other changes affecting woman, and running through the fluctuations of crinolines, and the changes of fashion in gowns for centuries, one point about the fair sex has always remained the same. The importance of the natural beauty of the hair has invariably been recognized. It is as true to-day as in the days of Sappho or of Josephine, or later still, of Eugenie, that her hair is woman's crowning beauty.

Such being the case how important is its proper care, and how essential its preparation. There are hundreds of cases on record in which the hair has been ruined by the use of hair on heads that were practically bald. That it will cause hair to grow when other preparations have failed, is as certain as anything can be. Not only is its power as a restorative so great, but it is also an elegant dressing, and no lady who uses it once will be without it. It is made by the Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn.

TENTH NATIONAL TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

The Ninth National Temperance Convention, held in Saratoga Springs, 1891, requested and empowered the National Temperance Society to call another Convention in the series, when, in their judgment, the exigencies of the case should require.

The Board of Managers of the society, believing the time has fully come for such a convention, appointed the following committee to issue such a call.

We do, therefore, earnestly and cordially invite all associations of ministers and churches, all General Assemblies and Synods, all General and Annual Conferences, Classes, Presbyteries, and religious National or State Conventions, all National and State Temperance organizations, all Woman's National and State Unions, Grand Divisions, Sons of Temperance, Grand Lodges of Good Templars, Grand Temples of Honor and Temperance, and other state temperance bodies, to send delegates to a National Temperance Convention, to be held, commencing at ten o'clock a. m., January 15, 1891, in the First Methodist church, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Each body to be entitled to send seven delegates, of which the presiding officer and secretary shall be two.

Episcopal churches, where the bishops severally are presidents of a number of conferences, this rule may not be binding. The same variation of this rule may apply to other organizations similarly constituted. In case any presbytery, association, conference or organization shall not be in session after the issue of this call and prior to the meeting of the convention, or shall fail to appoint delegates, the presiding officer, or, in his absence or failure to do so, the secretary may appoint the same. All delegates must be credentialed truly signed by one or both of the officers of their respective bodies. Vacancies in delegations may be filled by the remaining delegates. It is proposed that this convention shall be composed entirely of delegates from delegative bodies, and not from subordinate organizations.

We are at the threshold of a new era in temperance effort. The unscrupulous deeds of the liquor interest, the bold steps taken to destroy the force of restrictive legislation, the open violence to prevent citizens from voting against them, which have even struck down in broad daylight those opposed to their nefarious schemes, the high license craze which has swept over the country, the perplexity occasioned by supreme court decisions, and the heartless indifference of multitudes to the increase of intemperance, poverty and crime, as the direct fruit of the liquor traffic, compel the consideration of thoughtful citizens, and make it imperative that something be done to withstand this tide of sin.

In every aspect of this many-sided subject, but especially in its moral, political and educational bearings, the drink problem is the greatest of the first importance. The missionary needs of the south, and especially the desperate condition of the colored people through the increase of intemperance and the tricks of political demagogues, form no small part of the problem. On the other hand, temperance matters have never had more hearty recognition from all classes of society than to-day. More than ever before, we must also pray and work for us. Lines of opposition are more sharply drawn, and the number of the indifferent is being steadily reduced.

It is therefore in the highest degree necessary that all friends of temperance, forced by new perils and new opportunities, take counsel together for a forward movement against this special agent of that vile trinity: the world, the flesh, and the devil.

Arrangements have been made for a reduction of fare on the principal railroads and at the hotels. For particulars apply to the secretary of the committee.

THE METHODIST SISTERS.

The effort to admit women as delegates to the (Northern) Methodist General Conference is being most vigorously pressed, and it has become evident that the advocates for their admission do not propose to stop there. They distinctly avow that women must be freely admitted to the ministry. They say of the Apostle's inspired prohibition of women's speaking in the church: "Even if Paul did say so under inspiration, he had no authority to bind the whole church." As Bishop Haygood well says, "In a debate about women delegates and woman's suffrage, the Bible is a back number."

Miss Willard, who is perhaps the head of the movement to admit women to the General Conference, has written a book, "Women in the Pulpit," which Methodist women are urged to circulate among their churches so as to convince them before the meeting of the Conference. Chaplain McCabe has dared to oppose the innovation, and an angry Methodist woman in Iowa comes out in the secular papers exhorting her sisters after this fashion: "When Chaplain McCabe comes round again on a collecting tour, don't give him one cent." This shows that things are getting pretty warm.

Bishop Fitzgerald favors the admission of the women delegates, and he argues it on a new basis. He wishes the Methodists to do this so as to help along the cause of female suffrage in all the states. He even favors making a woman president of the United States. Surely the female suffragists will be grateful enough to nominate him to the second place on their next presidential ticket. Mrs. Lockwood for president, and Bishop Fitzgerald for vice president, would be a very appropriate combination.

The question is a larger one than some good people seem willing to believe. It is not simply whether women shall speak in mixed meetings, but whether they shall be ordained to the ministry, and vote and enter politics. And those who fondly imagine that the question means less than all that can not much longer be deceived. We have not much work to do in this line.

AMERICAN BAPTIST EDUCATION SOCIETY.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 18, 1891.
Els. Alabama Baptist:

You will remember that the Southern Baptist Convention at Fort Worth extended an invitation to the American Baptist Education Society to hold its next meeting in connection with the meeting of the convention in Birmingham. The convention did not appoint any committee to arrange with the society as to the time of its meeting.

The executive board of the Education Society, however, appointed a committee, all of whom are members of the Southern Baptist Convention, to arrange for the meeting, and I was made chairman of the committee. Correspondence and consultation between the executive officers of the society and the boards of the convention and the president of the convention, has resulted in the following arrangement:

The society will hold its sessions Friday and Saturday afternoon, and the convention will be organized at the regular time, 10 a. m., Friday. The report of foreign missions to be made and referred to appropriate committees. Friday night the convention session, by the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, and since it is not expected that he will be very long-winded, the home mission board report can be made that night and referred to appropriate committees. Saturday morning and Saturday night can be given to the work of the foreign board, Monday to home missions and Monday night and Tuesday to such other matters as may come before the convention. This in broad outline.

The consent of the Education Society and the consent of our own boards and the consent of the president of the convention has been secured. This is as far as we could go, and the society has gone on and appointed its speakers, expecting this arrangement to be carried out. It will be very embarrassing all around if there is any failure. Anything you can say or do that will help in carrying out this arrangement will be appreciated.

Fraternally,
T. T. KATON.

WILL IT EVER STOP?

Will the Baptists ever stop forming new societies and other organizations?

Just a few weeks ago our Kentucky brethren held a workers' convention in Louisville, which was a grand success, and our Texas brethren resolved at once to get up a similar meeting in that great Baptist state. And now we are called upon to meet the young brethren, and I suppose the young sisters, too, in Chicago to form still another new thing under the sun. Well, I am not writing against these things. I believe in organization. But are we not having too much of this sort of thing? There is not a pastor in this state who gives as much to benevolence as it would cost to pay his expenses to all these meetings in which he is directly interested. There is the association, the congress, the institute, the Sunday-school convention, the Baptist state convention, the young people's convention, the Southern Baptist convention, and the educational society—making eight meetings of great interest, besides the regular meetings of the local churches, and the W. C. T. U., and the state temperance society, to say nothing of the several alliances, such as farmers', evangelists', etc. I think if we keep on we will have to discover some other alphabet in order to get names after awhile.

I am surprised that Dr. Dietzler, the great Methodist warrior, has not illustrated these great Baptist wheels as a caricature on Dr. "Graham's" dress, from the fact that he is now I am going to be honest and tell you just why I have written this squib. A few days ago I was thinking of our great strength and vast resources, and wants, and especially our wants as regards ministerial culture, and the thought came to my mind, Would it not be well, while we are stretching so far in plans, etc., to add one more feature to our almost infinite number of organizations? Would it not be a good plan for the teachers of our institute to suggest a course of study for us to be examined on each year? I think this would be a means of ministerial culture equal to the lectures of the Institute.

W. N. HUCKABEE,
Camden, March 23rd.

THE PRESS.

The newspaper press is a powerful factor in molding the public mind. No agency more largely assists the different departments of church work—its missionary enterprises, its benevolent institutions, its religious instruction—than does the religious press. The press is wielding influences no mighty than most people are aware of. It is doing away the secular press, character, in the directing of thought, in shaping the conduct of mankind. If all the newspapers now published were pure and good, delivered from selfishness and devoted to the highest interest of man, much of the sin and misery of the world would soon be abated. But the newspapers are not much better than the men who make them and unfortunately for those who read, most of the newspaper men are not aiming at the true or the good. It is the interest of self and party, position and power that largely sway the secular press. Heads of families should understand this, and when selecting a newspaper for their families they should select such as would benefit, and not blight their homes. The religious paper should have the first place. It should be the first to enter, the first read and held in the highest honor and esteem. Too often just the opposite course is pursued. The irreligious, the secular, the mere political is often taken, even by religious people, before the religious paper. Men say they must have the local news, they say they must have the commercial and political news, and often get the secular news and do without the religious and moral influences so far as the press is concerned.

No amount of secular news can compensate for the loss of religious influences. If both kinds of papers cannot be taken, better do without the local and political and have the religious news in the home.

J. H. CURRY.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

To the memory of James M. Berry, late superintendent of the Sunday-school at Jackson's Gap, Ala.

BY THE SCHOOL.

It has pleased Almighty God, in his inscrutable providence, to remove from us a new basis. He wishes the Methodists to do this so as to help along the cause of female suffrage in all the states. He even favors making a woman president of the United States. Surely the female suffragists will be grateful enough to nominate him to the second place on their next presidential ticket. ## RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted by the students of Howard College concerning the death of Sergt. S. M. Chittwood.

Resolved, That we sustain in his death the loss of one of the best students of the institution and one who was dear to the hearts of all who belong to an honorable gentleman.

Resolved, That his manly bearing and generous conduct made him a great favorite in the college.

Resolved, That while we shall sadly miss him alive from the class room and the corps, and while we deeply deplore his untimely end, we submit with resignation to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That we extend to his parents and other loved ones our profound sympathy in their loss and assure them that we count it an honor to have been associated with their promising son.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parents in original form, and for publication to the North Alabama, The Mountain Advertiser and the Alabama Baptist.

What a Pastor Says.

Both myself and wife have used Dr. King's Royal Germatizer and both have been much benefited. I used it for indigestion and liver complaint, and my wife used it for neuralgia, and in both instances we found great benefit from its use, and we would recommend it to those similarly distressed.

Another Minister Writes.

My wife has been a sufferer for fifteen years from indigestion, and very severely for the past two years from liver complaint, and she had at times a violent attack of apoplexy, which added to her indigestion. She has tried many doctors and patent medicines without relief, until she began taking Dr. King's Royal Germatizer. She used one bottle and a half of Germatizer and is now completely cured.

What a great Pulpit Orator, Rev. P. S. HENSON, Pastor First Baptist Church, Chicago, says:

"An almost fatal attack of La Grippe, last winter, left me with nasal catarrh, and such susceptibility to bronchial irritation that the slightest exposure would develop it, and a very little effort in public speaking would result in a distressing hoarseness, so that I had serious fears of permanent disability."

"Besides I suffered with dyspeptic troubles, from which I found it difficult to obtain relief. I was induced by a friend to try King's oyal Germatizer, and it gives me great pleasure to say that its effect has been magical as 'King's' Lymphe is reported to be, which is also a germ destroyer, though taken in a different way."

"Catarrh, bronchial irritation and dyspepsia have all disappeared before one bottle of the Germatizer has been used."

"One of my sons, who has long been a sufferer from catarrh, has received like signal relief from his old enemy."
