For twenty years this matter has given us very much concern. In 1378, we attended the Baptist State Convention at Tailadega for the first time. During the session we introduced a resolution to the effect that it was the sacred duty of Baptists to provide and care for the aged and disabled ministers, their widows and orphans, whenever it became necessary. So thoroughly duty to do so, we felt sure no obection could or would be interposed. Strange to say, however, men, ministers as well as laymen, strenuously opposed the resolution. and it was defeated by an overwhelming majority. Not satisfied and believing it to be a just and Misjudged.

Speaking of how we often mis-judge people's motives, and how sometimes, because we see at a mo-ment but a part of what they are about, we reach harsh conclusions, the Oniver cites the following:

A pretty purrof crutches.' In the crowd was a poor crippled boy, and the crutches were just the thing for him. He was the first to bid for them. An elderly well dressed man bid against him. There were cries of 'Shame'l Shame!' in the crowd. The boy bid again, and so did the old gentleman. The boy bid all he had, but the old gentleman outbid him once more, and the poor lad turned turned away with tears in his eyes. The crutches were knocked down to the elderly man, who, to the great surprise of all, took them to the poor little cripple and made him a present of them. The crowd were now as enthusias-tic in their praise as they had been in their abuse, but the old gentleman heard nothing of it; he had red even before the little boy could thank him. To judge by a part is often to misjudge the whole." Everybody's Magazine

"Shall children be required to tion of sand and a moderate amount of and qualities he should be mated to commit any portion of the Bible to sunshine—sweet pea vines being easily bens that have an excess of black on the dren, arrested alike in their moral as emory before they are able to understand them?" This question is frequently discussed, and we are often told, even by very sensible people, that children should learn nothing which they cannot comparing illustration verifies the statement. Following are additional notes gleaned from the same source:

A peculiarity of sweet peas is that the higher they are trained the more profusely they will bloom, and if all fading blossoms are removed before they cannot at the time comprehend, as for example, the multiplication table, and the elementary inless of grammar.
