PLEASE READ THIS OFFER.

To any one who will send us two new cash subscribers to the ALABAMA BAPTIST for one year, we will send a copy of "THE HISTORY OF THE BAPTISTS OF ALABAMA," by Rev. F. F. Riley, D. D.

The retail price of each of these books is $1.00.

We confidently hope that our preachers will interest themselves in this offer, and secure one or both of these books, at no cost to them, except a little soliciting among the members of their churches and congregations.

If you wish to secure both books, send four subscribers, and six dollars; and both will be mailed to you. You will never get them any cheaper. There are only about fifty copies of Riley's book now unsold.

BRO. JOHN T. DAVIS, in his communication which was printed not understood why they [State Board of Missions] decline to publish their proceedings in the columns of the ALABAMA BAPTIST, as it is at all times open to them."

It was our purpose to say in a note to his article, but forgot it, that the State Board of Missions and the ALABAMA BAPTIST are on the best of terms, and that they have not declined to publish their proceedings in the ALABAMA BAPTIST.

What was published in the Advertiser was simply a partial report made by some one, who was no doubt present, and reported what was said as a matter of news.

We now reiterate this fact, that we never print anything concerning what is done in board meetings unless it is given us officially. If boards wish their proceedings made public, they can authorize it; if not, we don't consider it our duty to refer to it.

THE TEXAS STATE MISSION BOARD POLICY.

Dr. J. B. Gambrell, Secretary of the State Missionary Board, made a strong and wise report to the State Convention recently in session at Waco. We copy the following appropriate paragraph:

"But unquestionably missions to the churches is the most far-reaching, economical and important of all our missions. Against the prejudice worked up against such missions, we have common-sense demonstration and apostolic example."

It is reason to think that a divided and inactive churches is better than waiting for them to die, as we have done in South Texas, and build again. And this has been a thousand times proven by experience in the older states, and often in Texas. It is the worst of mismanagement to stand and see the work of years go to nothing, on a mistaken idea of missions or perversion of the doctrine of church sovereignty. Since the churches are sovereign and independent, all the more ought they to have common sense to use their liberty to edification. A fool twenty-one years old is likely to become a neighborhood calamity. But on the great question of missions to churches, we have the sure word of God to guide us. Teaching "the all things" commanded in the commission is as much a part of mission work as the first part of the commission. And Paul, inspired by the Holy Spirit, made it his duty to plant churches, made two others to confirm them in the "all things" command. We do well to walk after him."

During this convention, let us

Gen. Wheeler and some of his staff passed through Montgomery on Thursday last on the way to Citronelle, thirty-three miles away from Mobile. They were looking for a suitable place to establish a permanent hospital camp. The General's name was not known here, but Mobile had a grand reception. Whether he goes to Cuba or to Mexico he expects to be in his seat at Congress next.

The commission inspecting the conduct of the war are beginning to find some witnesses who are willing to tell. The quartermaster, commissary and medical supply departments of some divisions, and the chief surgeons appear to have been shamefully indifferent to the needs of the men.

A recruiting office has been opened in Montgomery, and in other cities, to enlist men to go up the regular regiments of the army.

FIELD NOTES.

Rev. H. A. Guinn has returned to Milton, Fla., having been engaged in the Bay Association.

The matter for the Central Committee did not reach us Friday, so we could not put it in its usual place.

Rev. J. W. Dickinson has moved from Ozark, Dale county, to China Grove, Pike county. We wish our brother great success in his new field.

Bro. Geo. E. Mize has moved from Marion, as we led to suppose. That is still postoffice, but he is frequently sent for some weeks.

Rev. J. O. A. Pace, of Russellville, is one among the good preachers in North Alabama who should be put at work by the church.

Write to him and see what he can do.

Bro. P. L. Mosely has not how he is getting along, how the cause is prospering in territory, which is reported developing so rapidly. If he find the time to write, we would be pleased to have a report of that nature in that part of Coffee.

Rev. S. L. Loderwick, of Cotton, with his family, passed the city on Tuesday on the way to Tennessee, being summoned by serious illness of his wife's.

Rev. J. O. Chancey, of county, was in the party, to Howard College.

"He has very good ability, and also some success, but his own self is so conscientious, so prominently put before him, so cannot become attached to him; in fact, you are repelled. He needs modesty and humility."

That was spoken of one preacher, and it may be true of others, more than the city.

We were pleasantly surprised to have a sort of "pop call" from Revs. J. N. Prestridge and G. M. Mosely, both Dallas county boys, but now of Louisville. They were on the way to the convention at Opelika. At least we got that impression. Bro. Prestridge is the head of the Baptist Argus, and is making a most excellent paper of it.

The letter from Cuba which is printed elsewhere, arrived too late for insertion last week, but it is good yet. Evidently the spiritual condition of the Cubans was uppermost in the writer's mind, so that he speaks of that instead of giving information about material matters. The letter should stimulate the missionary sentiment in our readers, as it comes from one who speaks of what he sees with his own eyes.

The Cincinnati Commercial Tribune prints in full the address of Dr. W. L. Pickard, formerly of Alabama, but now of Cleveland, Ohio, at the recent Baptist Conference in Cincinnati. The subject was the value and importance of denominational publications, and the power of the printed page. The Commercial not only speaks in high praise of the matter of address, but also in admiration of the manner in which it was delivered.

The Election.

The Advertiser's dispatches indicate that in Tuesday's election in Alabama, but the vote given was light. In North Carolina, which has for some years been controlled by a fusion of Republicans and Populists, the Democrats carried everything except one Republican congressman (colored) and one Democrat. The Republicans carried the Northern states, leaving Indiana in doubt, and also New York and Maryland. Col. Roosevelt, Republican, is elected Governor of New York, and the Legislature is Republican. As a general result it appears that the Democrats will lose two United States Senators, but may gain control of the lower house of congress.

Waiting for Her Boy.

BY HENRY A. JEFFERIES.

Within my no resting place find—
A frail bark tossed about from wave to wave
Upon that sea whose farthest shores
Are hidden in the mist of time,
One tells me, "Soul, be to thy fate resigned—
Cast off the shackles which thy spirit bind;
Reck not of any wind or tide; be brave,
Such counsel falls to thee; me, still I crave
Some surer comfort for my heart and mind.

Darker the night before the break of day;
I cry for rescue from the raging wave;
The angry billows fill me with dismay—
"Thy lost! O Jesus, to my help make haste!
A light—a voice amid the storm's alarms—
"I'm safe within the haven of thy arms!"

Staggering feet go to their grand door but nothing worse than tired ones come home to ours at night. You see we begin to call Providence to account for the things that do come to us, it's only fair to take all kinds of things—"Religion Review."

Wit and Humor of Children.

"Lulu," said a mother to a little girl who was making a great deal of noise, "you are a mistake, you should have been a boy." "No, mamma, God never makes a mistake."

When a youth asked permission of his mother to go to a ball, she said to him, "It was a bad place for a young man to go to."

"Well, mother, I want to see the folly of it too!"

That boy spoke for more than himself. Most people want to see the folly of it; they are not content with other people's experience.

"Mamma, I want to see what is in that box," said a little boy. "There isn't anything in it, Toy." "Oh, then I want to see what there isn't in it," said he. That mother might have taken a hint from that remark, for her boy may have possessed the prime elements of an explorer.

Once, when Captain Sigbee, the commander of the ill-fated Maine, was in charge of the American coast-survey steamer Blake, he saved his vessel from destruction, by deliberately sinking her. It was in one of the West Indian ports, and a hurricane was blowing. Slowly but surely she was drifting on a reef, and Captain Sigbee knew that unless heroic measures were adopted the Blake would be ground to pieces. He knew also that if her keel rested on the sandy bottom the action of the waves would be much less severe, so he resolved to sink the ship. Naval men still speak of it as a daring thing, but Captain Sigbee did not hesitate. He opened the ship's bottom, the water poured in, and she quickly settled. After the storm had subsided divers were sent down, the water pumped out, and the ship raised.

A little boy whose new horn set up a tremendous cry on getting her bath, exclaimed: "Well, I don't wonder they sent you down here if you made such a noise as that in heaven!"—Christian Standard.
